

Confidentiality:

a public consultation on our draft guidance

Working with doctors Working for patients

About this consultation

We are consulting on revised guidance for all doctors on confidentiality

Confidentiality is central to the trust between doctors and patients. Patients have a right to expect that information about their health will be kept in confidence by their doctors. But confidentiality is not absolute, and doctors need to strike a balance between protecting confidential patient information and sharing information appropriately.

Our current guidance Confidentiality was published in 2009.* Over the past year, we have been reviewing it to make sure that it is clear, helpful, relevant to doctors' needs and compatible with the law throughout the UK. We have also reviewed seven explanatory statements that give more detailed advice on how to apply the principles in the confidentiality guidance to situations that doctors often encounter, or find hard to deal with.

Our guidance is intended mainly for doctors, but it may also help patients, the public and other health and social care staff to understand what they can expect from doctors.

How have we developed the draft guidance?

Over the past year we have gathered information from a range of sources to help us to redraft the guidance. For example:

- we looked at the type of enquiries that we receive about confidentiality-related issues from doctors, patients and others
- we ran surveys for doctors, patients and organisations representing them, and other interested groups, seeking feedback on our current guidance
- we commissioned a literature review<sup>1</sup> looking at patient and public attitudes to confidentiality since 2007 (when the guidance was last reviewed)
- we held two roundtable events for patients to explore their views and expectations about how and why their personal medical information might be disclosed.

The redrafting process was overseen by a task and finish group whose members provided expert input from a range of legal, medical, health, social care and patient perspectives.‡

* You can find all of our guidance at www.gmc-uk.org/guidance.

&lt;sup>†</sup> You can read the literature review at www.gmc-uk.org/about/research/27704.asp.

&lt;sup>‡</sup> You can see the membership of the task and finish group at www.gmc-uk.org/confidentialityreview.

Have your say

In this document, we are asking for feedback on the draft core guidance, which you can find on our guidance review pages at www.gmc-uk.org/confidentialityreview.

There are 36 questions in this consultation document. You do not have to answer all of the questions if you prefer to focus on specific issues but you do need to have read the draft guidance to answer the questions.

We have also produced two shorter versions of this questionnaire, which you don't need to read the draft guidance to answer. These are:

- a questionnaire with 10 questions, which is mainly aimed at individual patients and members of the public
- a questionnaire with 11 questions, which is mainly aimed at individual doctors and other healthcare professionals.

You can respond to these questionnaires online on our consultation website: https://gmc.e-consultation.net. You can also download them from our guidance review pages at www.gmc-uk.org/confidentialityreview. Please contact us at the details below if you would like a printed copy.

How do I take part?

This consultation runs from 25 November 2015 to 10 February 2016. We welcome responses from anyone who has a view about the draft guidance.

The simplest way to answer the questions is on our consultation website: https://gmc.e-consultation.net. You can also answer the questions using the text boxes in this document and send your completed response by:

- email to confidentiality@gmc-uk.org
- post to Standards and Ethics team, General Medical Council, Regents Place, 350 Euston Road, London NW1 3JN.

Please contact us using the details above if you would like a printed copy.

Consultation on explanatory statements

We are separately consulting on explanatory guidance, which gives more detailed guidance on specific confidentiality issues such as reporting concerns about patients who may not be fit to drive, disclosing information about serious communicable diseases, and how the principles of confidentiality apply to children and young people.

You can read the explanatory statements and respond to the questions online on our consultation website: https://gmc.e-consultation.net. You can also download the consultation document from our guidance review pages at www.gmc-uk.org/confidentialityreview. Please contact us at the details above if you would like a printed copy.

How your responses will help

Your responses will help us to ensure that the guidance we give to doctors is clear, realistic and gives the right advice.

Our remit is UK wide, so our guidance needs to take into account the different healthcare and legal systems of Scotland, Northern Ireland, England and Wales. We welcome feedback on any areas where the guidance could be improved in this respect.

We have carefully considered the aims of the public sector equality duty in developing the guidance. The Equality Act 2010 identifies nine characteristics that are protected by the legislation.* Responses to this consultation will help us to understand how the principles in the guidance will affect doctors, patients and the public from across the protected characteristics. We therefore welcome your comments on whether any areas from the guidance could be strengthened from an equality perspective.

We also welcome your views about we could illustrate how the guidance should work in practice. In the past we've used case studies (such as those in our interactive learning tool, Good medical practice in action†), flowcharts and other learning materials to show how the guidance should be interpreted in different situations.

We hope to publish the final version of the guidance in 2016.

* Age, disability, gender reassignment, marriage or civil partnership, pregnancy and maternity, race, religion or belief, sex and sexual orientation.

&lt;sup>†</sup> www.gmc-uk.org/gmpinaction

About this guidance, the structure of the guidance, and the framework for considering disclosures (paragraphs 1–35)

The structure of the guidance (paragraph 2)

We have tried to make the guidance easier to follow and apply by structuring it according to the purposes for which doctors might need to disclose confidential patient information.

We have identified three kinds of purpose:

- direct care purposes that contribute to an individual patient's diagnosis, care and treatment
- indirect care purposes that contribute to the overall delivery of health and social care but which fall outside the scope of direct care (for example health service management, research, education and training)
- non-care purposes that are not connected to the delivery of health or social care but which serve wider purposes (for example, public protection, the administration of justice, financial audit or insurance or benefit claims)

Do you agree that we should structure the guidance around the three purposes: direct care; indirect care; and non-care purposes?

	Yes □	No □	Not sure □
Cor	mments

The framework for considering when to disclose personal information (paragraphs 14–35)

The framework section provides an executive summary of the guidance which signposts doctors to the relevant section in the rest of the document.

2	Is the framework section helpful?
	Yes □	No □	Not sure □
Cor	mments
3	Do you have	e any other c	comments on paragraphs 1–35?
	Yes □	No □
Cor	mments

Direct care uses and disclosure (paragraphs 36–80)

Implied consent to disclose information for direct care purposes (paragraphs 36–45)

This section sets out the circumstances in which we think a doctor can reasonably assume that a patient would want relevant information about them to be shared for their direct care without being directly asked.

It includes, at paragraph 38, a list of conditions which should be met in order for a doctor to rely in a patient's implied consent. These are:

- the person accessing or receiving the information is providing or supporting the patient's direct care
- information is readily available to patients explaining how their information will be used, and that they have the right to object
- the patient has not objected
- anyone to whom the patient's personal information is disclosed understands that it is given in confidence, which they must respect.
- 4 Do you agree that a doctor should be able to rely on a patient's implied consent to share information about their direct care when all of these conditions are met?

	Yes □	No □	Not sure $\square$
Comi	ments

Clinical audit (paragraphs 46-48)

In the revised guidance we say that doctors can rely on implied consent to disclose information for clinical audit if it is to be carried out by members of the team that provided direct care to the patient. If the clinical audit is to be carried out by anyone else then the information should be anonymised or de-identified (which we define in the glossary of the guidance), or the patient should be asked for explicit consent.

This is also the position in the current guidance.

5	Do you agree with the advice about disclosing information for clinical audit?
	Yes □	No □	Not sure □
Co	mments

Sharing information with, and receiving information from, those close to the patient (paragraphs 49–57)

The guidance highlights the significant role that those close to a patient can play in supporting and caring for them, and the importance of acknowledging that role. It reminds doctors that they:

- must be considerate, sensitive and responsive in giving a patient's friends and family information and support, while respecting the patient's wishes (where they are known or can be found out)
- should not refuse to listen to the concerns of family or friends on grounds of confidentiality, although they should take care not to disclose confidential information unintentionally during such conversations. Doctors should also consider whether the patient would think it would be a breach of trust for them to listen to the views or concerns of others
- must respect the patient's wishes about what information is disclosed to family and friends if the patient is able to make their own decisions, unless the disclosure can be justified in the public interest (for example, because failure to share the information would leave someone at risk of death or serious harm)

- must act in the best interests of patients who do not have capacity to decide for themselves.
- 6 Do you think that this section strikes the right balance between being sensitive and responsive to those close to a patient, while respecting the patient's right to confidentiality?

  Yes No Not sure

  Comments

Disclosing information about patients who may be at risk of serious harm and who lack capacity to consent (paragraphs 73–75)

At paragraph 74, we have extended the existing duty to tell an appropriate authority when a patient who lacks capacity may be experiencing, or at risk of, abuse or neglect, so that it covers all forms of serious harm.

7	Do you agree with the extension of the duty to disclose information about patients who may be at risk of serious harm and who lack capacity to consent?

Yes □	No □	Not sure □
Comments

Disclosing information to protect patients who have capacity without their consent (paragraphs 76–80)

It is a general principle in our guidance that adults who have capacity are entitled to make decisions in their own best interests, even if those decisions leave them (but nobody else) at risk of death or serious harm.

However, at paragraph 80 of the draft guidance, we suggest that there may be a public interest justification – in exceptional cases – for disclosing information about an adult who has capacity without their consent, even when nobody else is at risk of serious harm.

For example, we say that this may apply when there are particular duties on the state to protect patients from self-harm when they are detained in prison, in hospital or elsewhere.

-	•		·
8	Do you think that there may be circumstances in which there is a public interest justification for disclosing information about an adult who has capacity without their consent, even when nobody else is at risk of serious harm?
	Yes □	No □	Not sure □
9	What do you this way?	think would	d be the consequences of us changing our advice in section of the guidance (paragraphs 36–80)?
Con	nments

Please note that we have not asked questions about paragraphs that are substantially unchanged from the current guidance, but we do welcome comments on those paragraphs.
Yes □	No □
nments
	Please not substantia comments

10 Do you have any other comments on the 'direct care uses and disclosure'

Indirect care uses and disclosure (paragraphs 81–109)

Anonymised and de-identified information (paragraphs 81–89)

We have included new guidance on using anonymised and de-identified information for indirect care purposes, for example healthcare management, research and commissioning.

11	Is the guid helpful?	lance on usi	ng anonymised and de-identified information
	Yes □	No □	Not sure □
Со	mments
Th	ne proces	s of anon	ymising or de-identifying information ide	ntified by mer	mbers of the t	where patient information cannot be anonymised or de- eam providing or supporting the patient's direct care, the d or de-identified by:
	staff tem	porarily brou	ght in to provide or support the patient's direct care, or nt that is capable of processing the information securely, and agreements.
12	•	ree with this information	guidance on the process of anonymising or de- n?
	Yes □	No □	Not sure □

Comments
Public interest justification for indirect care uses (paragraphs 100–106)
We say (at paragraph 100) that, where there are statutory arrangements for considering the disclosure of identifiable information for indirect care purposes (such as those provided by section 251 of the NHS Act 2006 ) there is likely to be very limited scope for justifying such a disclosure in the public interest.
13 Do you agree with this statement about the very limited scope for justifying disclosure in the public interest of identifiable information for indirect care purposes?
Yes $\square$ No $\square$ Not sure $\square$
Comments
We have expanded the advice on disclosing information for indirect care uses in the public interest. At paragraph 104, we list five factors that doctors must consider before making a decision.
the potential harm or distress to patients arising from the disclosure (for example, in terms of their future engagement with treatment and their overall health)

www.gmc-uk.org

• the potential harm to trust in doctors generally (for example, if it is widely

consent)

perceived that doctors will readily disclose information about patients without

- the potential harm to others (whether to a specific person or the public more broadly) if the information is not disclosed
- the potential benefits to an individual or society arising from the release of the information
- whether the harms can be avoided or benefits gained without intruding into patients' privacy and if not, what is the least significant intrusion.

We list the same factors later in the guidance (at paragraph 125) for doctors who are considering disclosures in the public interest for public protection reasons.

14	Do you agree that these are the factors that doctors should take into account when considering whether a disclosure is justified in the public interest?
	Yes □	No □	Not sure □
Cor	nments
15	•	-	comments on the 'indirect care uses and disclosure' (paragraphs 81–109)?
		y unchange	ve not asked questions about paragraphs that are d from the current guidance, but we do welcome agraphs.
	Yes □	No □
Cor	nments

Non-care uses and disclosure (paragraphs 110–132)

Requests for information from employers, insurers, government bodies and others (paragraphs 110–114)

The guidance in this section has not changed significantly from the current guidance, although we have amended the explanatory statement Disclosing information for employment, insurance and similar purposes.

You can respond to a separate survey on that explanatory statement online on our consultation website: https://gmc.e-consultation.net. You can also download the consultation document on the explanatory statements from our guidance review pages at www.gmc-uk.org/confidentialityreview, or contact us if you would like a printed copy. Our contact details are at the start of this document.

Disclosures to the courts or in connection with litigation (paragraphs 118–121)

The guidance on disclosing information to the courts and in connection with litigation has not changed significantly from that in the current guidance. However, we have included new advice that doctors should:

 tell the courts if they think that disclosure of information might put someone at risk of harm (paragraph 118)

16 Do you agree with this advice on disclosing information to the courts and in cooperate with the system of precognition in Scotland (paragraph 120).

connectio	connection with litigation?
Yes □	No □	Not sure □
Comments
			_

Disclosures in the public interest (paragraphs 122-128)

We have retained the current guidance on disclosing information without consent in the public interest, for example for public protection purposes.

We have however expanded the guidance on the factors that doctors must consider before making a decision. These are listed in question 14 of this survey and at paragraph 125 of the draft guidance.

17	Is the guidance on disclosing information in the public interest at paragraphs 122–128 helpful?
	Yes □	No □	Not sure □
Cor	mments
18	~	-	comments on the 'non-care uses and disclosures' (paragraphs 110–132)?
		y unchanged	ve not asked questions about paragraphs that are d from the current guidance, but we do welcome agraphs.
	Yes □	No □
Cor	mments

Managing and protecting personal information (paragraphs 133–156)

Knowledge of information governance and compliance with data protection legislation (paragraphs 134–139)

In the revised guidance we advise doctors that they must:

- develop and maintain an understanding of information governance that is appropriate to their role (paragraph 134)
- be familiar with, and follow, the confidentiality, data protection and record management policies and procedures where they work and know where to get advice on these issues (paragraph 134)
- understand and meet their obligations under the Data Protection Act 1998 (where they are data controllers under the terms of the Act) (paragraph 137)
- process patient information fairly and be open with patients about how their information will be used, accessed and disclosed (paragraph 138).

19 Do you agree with the inclusion of these duties on information governance

These duties are implicit in our current guidance but, in our discussions before the consultation, respondents told us it would be helpful to make them explicit.

and compliance with data protection legislation?
	Yes □	No □	Not sure □
Con	nments

Improper access and disclosure (paragraphs 140-143)

In response to feedback from doctors, employers and patients and the findings of the literature review, we have expanded the description of the circumstances in which a patient's confidentiality may be breached unintentionally. Reception areas and ward rounds are areas of particular concern for patients.

20	Do you agree with the guidance on improper access and disclosure?
	Yes □	No □	Not sure □
Con	nments
	_
Re	cords ma	nageme	nt (paragraphs 144–148)
		-	t paragraph 148 for doctors who have responsibilities for o make sure that:
	staff are	suitably traine	ed
		ent contracts protection.	contain appropriate obligations in relation to confidentiality
21	•		inclusion of these duties for doctors who have naging or recruiting staff?
	Yes □	No □	Not sure □
Con	nments

Disclosing information after a patient has died (paragraphs 152–156)

We have re-ordered the guidance on disclosure after a patient has died, to clarify what is mandatory (paragraph 153) and what is a matter for professional judgement (paragraph 154).

22	Do you agree with the guidance on disclosing information after a patient has died?
	Yes □	No □	Not sure □
Cor	mments
23	-	-	omments on the 'managing and protecting ction of the guidance (paragraphs 133–156)?
		y unchanged	e not asked questions about paragraphs that are I from the current guidance, but we do welcome agraphs.
	Yes □	No □
Cor	mments

Glossary, legal annex, endnotes and flowchart

Glossary The glossary defines key terms used in the guidance. 24 Do you have any comments on the glossary? Yes □ No □ Comments Legal annex In this section, we aim to provide an outline of law that is most commonly encountered by, or that poses most challenge to, individual doctors. The annex also covers some organisational duties where these are likely to be relevant, but does not cover law relating to children and young people as this is covered in our guidance 0–18: guidance for all doctors. 25 Is the legal annex helpful? Yes □ No □ Not sure □ Comments

20	legal annex		any maccuracies of important omissions from the
	Yes □	No □	Not sure □
Con	nments
Fn	dnotes
27		ve any comn	nents on the endnotes?
	Yes □	No □
Con	nments
	wchart
			guidance we have included a flowchart that is intended to decision making in relation to disclosing information.
28	Do you thin	nk this is he	lpful?
	Yes □	No □	Not sure □
Con	nments

Developing the guidance and associated materials

29	Overall, how	clear is the c	draft guidance?
	Very clear □	Fairly clear	□ Not very clear □	Not clear at all $\square$	Not sure $\square$
Ple	ase give reasor	ns for your r	esponse
30	Is there anyth	ning missing	from the guidance?
	Yes □	No □	Not sure □
If y	es, please give	details belo	ow
31	Is there anyth	ning you thir	nk should be removed	I from the guidance	?
	Yes □	No □	Not sure □
If y	es, please give	details belo	ow

	To help show how the guidance might work in practice, we will develop case studies that feature specific challenges faced by doctors and patients.
	Are there a a case stud	-	r situations that you think it might be useful to have
	Yes □	No □	Not sure □
Ple	ase give det	ails below
33	-	k in practice	r ideas on how we could show how the guidance e, such as guidance for patients or interactive
		· •
	•	icularly intere	ested in examples of innovative formats that you use or are ink would work well in this area.
	•	icularly intere	ink would work well in this area.
lf y	aware of an	icularly intered that you th	ink would work well in this area.
If y	aware of an	icularly intered that you th	ink would work well in this area.
If y	aware of an	icularly intered that you th	ink would work well in this area.

Equality

The Equality Act 2010 identifies nine groups of people who share characteristics that are protected by the legislation. These are referred to as protected characteristics. They are:

		age disability
	•	gender reassignment
	•	marriage or	civil partner	rship
		pregnancy a	and maternit	у
		race
		religion or k	elief
	•	sex
	•	sexual orier	ntation.
We guid		•	onsidered th	e aims of the public sector equality duty in developing this 4 Do you think any part of the guidance will affect people with protected characteristics that are covered by equality legislation? This could include doctors, patients and members of the public.
34	ch	aracteristic	cs that are	covered by equality legislation? This could include
34	ch do	aracteristic	cs that are	covered by equality legislation? This could include
lf y	ch do , ou	naracteristic ectors, patient Yes   answered	ts and members and members and members and members and members and members are to the question to the question to the question and the question to the question to the question to the question and the question to the question and the question to the question and	covered by equality legislation? This could include bers of the public.
lf y	ch do , ou	naracteristic ectors, patient Yes   answered	ts and members and members and members and members and members and members are to the question to the question to the question and the question to the question to the question to the question and the question to the question and the question to the question and	covered by equality legislation? This could include bers of the public.  Not sure  question above, please tell us which parts of the
lf y	ch do , ou	naracteristic ectors, patient Yes   answered	ts and members and members and members and members and members and members are to the question to the question to the question and the question to the question to the question to the question and the question to the question and the question to the question and	covered by equality legislation? This could include bers of the public.  Not sure  question above, please tell us which parts of the
lf y	ch do , ou	naracteristic ectors, patient Yes   answered	ts and members and members and members and members and members and members are to the question to the question to the question and the question to the question to the question to the question and the question to the question and the question to the question and	covered by equality legislation? This could include bers of the public.  Not sure  question above, please tell us which parts of the
lf y	ch do , ou	naracteristic ectors, patient Yes   answered	ts and members and members and members and members and members and members are to the question to the question to the question and the question to the question to the question to the question and the question to the question and the question to the question and	covered by equality legislation? This could include bers of the public.  Not sure  question above, please tell us which parts of the

The consultation process

To help us continue to improve the way we consult, please tell us about your experience of taking part in this consultation.

35	-		ultation documentation (the questionnaire and any is if completing it online) clear and easy to use?
	Yes □	No □	Not sure □
lf	you have an	swered no,	or are not sure, please tell us why.
36			ntation formats for the consultation drafts of the core atory statements. Did you prefer one format over the
	Yes □	No □	Not sure □
If y	ou answere	ed yes, pleas	se tell us why.

Thank you for taking the time to give us your comments.

Please tell anyone you think might be interested in responding to this consultation.

The final section asks for some information about you to help us to analyse the responses.

About you

Finally, we'd appreciate it if you could give some information about yourself to help us analyse the consultation responses.

Your details

Name
Job title (if responding as an o	organisation)
Organisation (if responding a	s an organisation)
Address
Email
Contact telephone (optional)
Would you like to be contacted al
If you would like to know about o our work interest you:	ur upcoming consultations, please let	us know which of the areas of
Education	Standards and ethics	Fitness to practise
Registration	Licensing and revalidation
Data protection

The information you supply will be stored and processed by the GMC in accordance with the Data Protection Act 1998 and will be used to analyse the consultation responses, check the analysis is fair and accurate, and help us to consult more effectively in the future. Any reports published using this information will not contain any personally identifiable information. We may provide anonymised responses to the consultation to third parties for quality assurance or approved research projects on request.

The information you provide in your response may be subject to disclosure under the Freedom of Information Act 2000 which allows public access to information held by the GMC. This does not necessarily mean that your response will be made available to the public as there are exemptions relating to information provided in confidence and information to which the Data Protection Act 1998 applies. Please tick if you want us to treat your response as confidential.

Responding as an individual

Are you	ı responding as an in	idividual?
	Yes	No
-	yes, please complete t ganisation' section o		g questions. If no	ot, plea	se complete the 'res	ponding as an
Which o	of the following cate	egories best	t describes you?
	Doctor		Medical edu	cator (t	teaching, delivering or	administering)
	Medical student		Member of t	he pub	lic
	Other healthcare pr	rofessional
	Other (please give o	details)
Doctor	s
to		ou are respo	nding as an indiv		ow a bit more about t octor, could you pleas	the doctors who respond te tick the box below
	General practitione	r	Consultant
	Other hospital doct	or	Doctor in tra	aining
	Medical director		Other medic	cal man	nager
	Staff and associate	grade (SAS)	doctor
	Sessional or locum	doctor	Medical stud	dent
	Other (please give o	details)
Wl	hat is your current pra	actice settin	g? (Please tick all	l that a	pply)
	NHS	Indeper	ndent or voluntar	У	Other
What is	s your country of res	sidence?
	England	Northe	rn Ireland		Scotland	Wales
	Other – European Ed	conomic Are	ea
	Other – rest of the v	world (pleas	e say where)

To help make sure our consultations reflect the views of the diverse UK population, we aim to monitor the types of responses we receive to each consultation and over a series of consultations. Although we will use this information in the analysis of the consultation response, it will not be linked to your response in the reporting process.

What is your age?
0–18	19–24	25–34	35–44
45–54	55–64	65 or over
What is your gend	er?
Female	Male
Do you have a disa	ability, long-term	illness or health co	ondition?
Yes	No	Prefer not to	say
has a substantia	l and long-term (ie		hey have a physical or mental impairment, w pected to last at least 12 months) and advers to-day activities.
Which of the follo	owing options bes	t describes your se	exual orientation?
Bisexual		Gay man	Gay woman/lesbian
Heterosexual/s	traight P	refer not to say
Other (please g	ive details)

What is your ethnic group? (Plea	ase tick one)
Asian or Asian British
Bangladeshi	Chinese	Indian	Pakistani
Any other Asian background (please specify)
Black, African, Caribbean, black British
African	Caribbean
Any other black, African or Caribbean background (please specify)
Mixed or multiple ethnic groups
White and Asian	White and black African	White and black (	Caribbean
Any other mixed or multiple ethnic background (please specify)
Other ethnic group
Arab
Any other ethnic group (please specify)
White
British, English, Northern Irish, Scottish or Welsh
Irish	Gypsy or Irish traveller
Any other white background (please specify)

Responding as an organisation

Are you responding on behalf of an organ	nisation?
Yes No
If yes, please complete the following questions. If not, please complete the 'responding as an individual' section on page 29.
Which of the following categories best describes your organisation?
Body representing doctors		Body representing patients or the public
Government department		Independent healthcare provider
Medical school (undergraduate)		Postgraduate medical institution
NHS or HSC organisation		Regulatory body
Other (please give details)
In which country is your organisation bas	sed?
UK wide	England	Northern Ireland
Scotland	Wales
Other – European Economic Area
Other – rest of the world (please s	ay where)

Email: gmc@gmc-uk.org

Website: www.gmc-uk.org Telephone: 0161 923 6602

Standards and Ethics Section, General Medical Council, 350 Euston Road, London NW1 3JN.

Textphone: please dial the prefix 18001 then 0161 923 6602 to use the Text Relay service

Join the conversation

To ask for this publication in Welsh, or in another format or language, please call us on 0161 923 6602 or email us at publications@gmc-uk.org.

Published November 2015 © 2015 General Medical Council

The text of this document may be reproduced free of charge in any format or medium providing it is reproduced accurately and not in a misleading context.

The material must be acknowledged as GMC copyright and the document title specified.

The GMC is a charity registered in England and Wales (1089278) and Scotland (SC037750).

General Medical Council

GMC/CPC15/1115